

4 Seasons

By

Alan Masterton
27 November 2013
Final Draft

Alan Masterton

alanmasterton.yolasite.com

INT. WINTER- 9PM

FADE IN

House, cosy atmosphere, clean carpets, radiators, puffed up cushions.

STEVE, 19, 6ft, muscly figure.

HANNAH, 18, 5ft9, blonde hair.

HANNAH
How was your day at work?

STEVE Busy?

HANNAH
Lucky you.

STEVE And?

HANNAH
Oh, you know I got my books last week so this is what my life is like, I'm on the dole. So bored.

STEVE
Fancy a bit music?

Steve goes in to CD collection and pulls out a CD.

HANNAH
What CD is that?

STEVE
Vivaldi. 4 seasons, fancy it?

HANNAH
Look Steve, if I wanted to listen to that I would've phoned job centre plus about my giro.

Hannah walks over to Steve so they can look at CDs together.

EXT. SPRING- 2PM

Grassy field with spring flowers growing all around.

Steve and Hannah are away out for a walk holding hands.

(CONTINUED)

HANNAH
Lovely day, aye.

STEVE
Aye good to get out after work.
Find anything at the job centre
today.

HANNAH
Naw, nae such luck.

STEVE That's shan.

HANNAH
In this economic climate, I suppose
I'm no the only one.

STEVE
I think that's the rain coming on, fancy heading back to the flat for a cup of tea?

HANNAH
Class idea.

EXT. SUMMER- 1PM

Crazy High Street with people walking up & down. Sun shining brightly.

Steve & Hannah are walking out the theater.

STEVE
Brilliant play.

HANNAH
Yeah nice happy ending how the woman got the job of her dreams in the end. I could really connect with her at the bit where she was unemployed.

Steve and Hannah walk off to the bus stop.

INT. AUTUMN- 3PM

Living room all cosy with Steve enjoying a cup of tea with a cigarette.

Hannah runs in the door with excitement with the wind slamming the door shut.

(CONTINUED)

STEVE

Whats with all the balarmy?

HANNAH

That job I applied for last night.

STEVE

Aye?

HANNAH

I just received a text saying I got it.

STEVE

Well done.

HANNAH

Well it's been a long 4 seasons but I'm finally employed again. I love happy endings.

STEVE

Yes, but is this the end.

FADE OUT