

A Typical Edwardian Kidnapping

By

Alan Masterton
19 February 2014
Final Draft

for more scripts visit alanmasterton.yolasite.com/scripts

Alan Masterton

INT. HIDEOUT - 7PM

FADE IN

Dark hideout, scarlet red walls, fancy carpet.

VICTOR, 31, villain.

HORACE, 28, Heroic boy friend.

PRISCILLA, 25, James girlfriend.

Victor has kidnapped Priscilla and has her pushed down so she cant move.

VICTOR

I have you now my sweeting, thee
can never escape.

PRISCILLA

Oh, but I can, I know my hero will come and save me.

At that moment Horace walks in with a gun pointing it at Victor.

HORACE

Victor, remove thy hands.

Victor lets go of Priscilla and holds hand up as if to say I surrender.

VICTOR

Who are you when when still in the hoose.

HORACE

I am, her husband.

Priscilla takes a step.

PRISCILLA

Oh Horace.

Horace takes a step.

HORACE

Oh Priscilla.

Priscilla takes another step

(CONTINUED)

PRISCILLA

Oh Horace.

Horace takes another step and Priscilla puts her arms around him.

VICTOR

Oh fiddlesticks

FADE OUT