On today's news, a big tree runs in to the house of commons and grabs David Cameron by the neck and says give more money to green charity's or I'll punch your face in. Then well be looking at results of a pole to find out if she's pregnant or not. But 1st there's been numerous complaints about global politicians coming over and wasting tax payers money by not eating all the food that's cooked and it goes to waste. Reports suggest that they should make there own sandwiches at home and drink tea like the rest of us.
