

How may she survive in a field nowadays?
(Modern take on little Red Riding Hood)

By

Alan Masterton
Final Draft
30 December 2013

alanmasterton.yolasite.com

Alan Masterton

INT. GRANNY'S HOUSE- 3PM

FADE IN

Living room with cabinet full of china dolls and other ornaments. Widescreen telly above fire place.

GRANNY, 66, grey hair, walking stick.

JENNY, 16, red coat with fluffy hood.

Granny is sitting on chair across from fire place watching tv holding her purse.

GRANNY

Jenny?

JENNY

Yes Granny?

GRANNY

Could you do me a wee favour?

JENNY

Anything.

GRANNY

Could you go round to the shops get me some milk teabags and biccys.

JENNY

Sure.

Granny pulls a banknote out of her purse.

GRANNY

There you go, get yourself
something nice as well.

JENNY

Thanks.

EXT. FIELD- 3.30PM

Long grassy verge with trees.

On way back from shops, Jenny comes across a handsome man taking an Alsatian for walk.

JOE, 22, tammy hat, dark jacket.

(CONTINUED)

JENNY

Excuse me but....

Before Jenny is able to finish her sentence he pulls her over, pushes her up against tree and rapes her.

Jenny is lying there screaming in pain trying to think something good but she still hates it. Just as he is enjoying the best bit a police man approaches. The police man pulls Joe away from Jenny, sees her crying and bleeding as Joe begins to frown.

POLICE OFFICER, uniform, 33.

POLICE OFFICER

You're under arrest.

JOE

B-but you didn't see.

POLICE OFFICER

I've seen enough.

FADE OUT

Alan Masterton