

Last Words On His Death Bed

By

Alan Masterton
2 April 2014
Final Draft

alanmasterton@ymail.com

Alan Masterton (C)

INT. AT HOME - 2PM

FADE IN

Living room, couch, chairs, dinner table, tv & radio.

TIM, 32, slim, weak.

Tim is sitting on chair watching TV.

KYM, 29, close cropped brown hair, hazel eyes.

Kim walks into room.

KIM
How's my best friend this afternoon?

TIM
No very well, I shouldn't have got involved with drugs.

KIM
You can't help it, you were just out of jail.

TIM
I ken, but I mean I wouldn't be this week. And if I sit here I'll probably be taken away on a stretcher. Never mind a wheel chair.

KIM
Fancy going out for a coffee then.

TIM
Aye OK then.

KIM
Right. I'll get us ready then.

Kim walks out the room to get there jackets.

KIM
Come here then, so we can get your jacket on.

TIM A'right but we'll just leave my chair in the house.

KIM
Will you be OK walking?

TIM
Look, if I was unsure I'd just take it.

INT. CAFE - 3PM

Tables with chairs, coffee bean pictures on walls, Tim sitting on a brown leather sofa.

Kim walks round with cups of coffee and a cake for each of them.

TIM Oh, a muffin, that's nice of
you. I only asked for a cuppa.

KIM
I thought we could do with something to have with our refreshments.

Kim takes a sip from cup then takes a bite of cake.

FADE OUT

EXT. OUTSIDE CAFE - 4PM

FADE IN

Kim and Tim are walking to bus stop. Tim begins to struggle as he walks down road.

KIM
Are you OK.

Without Tim getting a chance to answer he falls over, lands on his nose and face with nothing to land on.

Kim gets out her mobile and speaks in tears.

FADE OUT

INT. HOSPITAL - 6PM

FADE IN

Kim walks in to the hospital to see here friend. She sits down next to him holds 1 of his hands as she cry's.

KIM

Oh, Tim, Tim. There is so much we could've done together.

At that moment Tim shows slight consciousness and turns his head to Kim speaking with slight and croaky speech.

TIM

I love you.

Tim drops his head, stops breathing and the machine he's connected to beeps confirming his death.

FADE OUT